About the theme of Seminar

Intellectual Property (IP), the property of the intangible creation of the human intellect, is the most important domain to encourage the creation of wide varieties of intellectual attributes, keeping in mind the safety and security of such property in the context of the economy and plagiarism. Copyrights, Patents, trademarks, trade secrets are some of the common issues in this field. The invisible intellectual property has become very important in the context of innovation and incentives, especially in the field of research & development (R & D) This one day webinar will be a platform for the participants and esteemed speakers to exchange their thoughts for the welfare of individuals as well as academics.
