The Covid-19 pandemic demonstrated how many people across the Commonwealth are at the sharp end of inequality when it comes to medicine and vaccine access.

It's our duty, as Commonwealth citizens, to stand in solidarity with those affected by unequal access to healthcare. We must work to deliver a more just global health system.

We look forward to seeing you on Tuesday, 29 March.

Dear Priyabrata,

There are just three days to go until civil society leaders from around the globe come together for the Commonwealth People's Forum in Kigali, Rwanda.

The People's Forum is a crucial opportunity to advocate for collaboration among the 54 Commonwealth member states in the face of shared, global challenges.

From the climate crisis to the global pandemic, we are witnessing ever more pressing global threats that transcend borders. Only by working together - across nations, governments and in collaboration with civil society - can we find new ideas and solutions to tackle them.

Find out why the People's Forum is such a unique moment to work together for a more just and equitable world:

Dear Priyabrata,

Our world is facing incredible disruption.

Small island states are clamouring for climate action as sea levels rise. Developing countries are demanding equitable access to vaccines, before new and possibly more dangerous strains of Covid-19 emerge.

In times like these, opportunities for international solidarity and collective action matter like never before.

That's why the 2022 Commonwealth People's Forum — the single largest gathering of civil society in the Commonwealth — is a key moment to push for a more just and equitable world.

Invitation from Commonwealth Forum to join the Forum and work Collectively

Happening in under two weeks, learn why the Commonwealth People's Forum is vital for action on the most pressing issues of our time:

Hundreds of civil society advocates, journalists and policy makers will be meeting in Kigali, Rwanda on 21-22 June. Together, we'll tackle our collective challenges; from how we finance action on climate change to building more resilient national health systems.

The question that will be front and centre on everyone's minds?

How can we harness the best of humanity — the forces of love, compassion, equality and justice — to advance our common goals?

Find out why the People's Forum on 21-22 June is a moment to deliver for our planet, our health and our future:

The timing couldn't be more crucial. The demands we agree at the People's Forum will be delivered to the leaders of 54 Commonwealth Member States who are meeting in Kigali at the same time.

Together, we'll engage, challenge and compel Commonwealth institutions and countries to take action for a more equal, just and inclusive world.

Dear YOUNGO

Raise your voice and join the conversation! We are pleased to invite you to the Open Dialogues on Climate Change International's summary event, where we discuss the outcomes of our national events from around our world and how an Open Dialogue is a tool for change.

Interested? We knew you would be!

Join us on Saturday, 6th November in Derwentwater, side event room 3 (Armadillo) from 11.30 am - 12.45 pm.

Discussing the importance of climate conversations between all stakeholders in the climate emergency - from young people to decision makers - our panellists will reflect on the successes of the international events and demonstrate the urgency of an open and inclusive dialogue.

By sharing and proposing policy recommendations from our events, we hope you will leave empowered to enact change in your community and country. For as long as conversations are closed, we will never see meaningful action to fight against the climate emergency. It is paramount everyone - not least young people - are not only heard, but listened to.

As part of our very special side event, you will also be invited to participate in an interactive session where you will experience directly how Open Dialogues work and how solutions are created through them!

Follow the side event here: <https://fb.me/e/9t7Q57vjE>

Live streaming will be provided for people not present in Glasgow here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XgFLBvSNFlc&list=PLBcZ22cUY9RL4TEKTBfoLupiqS5n7Kr6c&index=97>

The list of all COP26 side events can be seen here: https://seors.unfccc.int/applications/seors/reports/events_list.html?session_id=COP26

The time for change is now. The time to listen is now. The time to create a brighter, more inclusive future for all is now.

Will you join us in raising your voice for the change we all want to see?

Yours in climate action and dialogue,

Henrietta, Zuzanna, and the ODCC team

Dear Prof. Vivek

As we discussed yesterday, CSIR-NIScPR is going to celebrate its first foundation day on 14th January 2022. On this occasion we are planning to organize a brainstorming session on 13th January from 2.30-4.30pm. I also had discussion with Dr. Divya Khatter in this regard.

The brainstorming would be broadly focusing on the phenomenon of technology dissemination from Government research institutions to the stakeholders at grass root level. Looking at the activities carried out jointly by CSIR and UBA in the direction of creating livelihood in rural areas using CSIR Technologies, we may like to take this opportunity to invite you and members from UBA and UBA-RCIs & PIs to take part in this brainstorming session. The broad objective is to listen to the viewpoints from these RCIs and PIs about the challenges they face in technology adoption and their expectations from institutions like CSIR and others who might play a role in this technology dissemination.

Therefore it is requested if you may kindly accept this invitation. A line of confirmation in this regard would be highly helpful.

We also request you to kindly forward this invitation to UBA RCIs & PIs, particularly those with which we have interacted in past and arrange for their participation in this session.

Detailed program and link for the meeting would be communicated shortly.

Looking forward for your kind participation in the session,

With kind regards

Invitation for Beyond COP26 : Investing in Green Recovery : Prioritising jobs, growth, and sustainability

Dear partner,

The India Climate Collaborative is pleased to invite you to Investing in Green Recovery: Prioritising jobs, growth, and sustainability, a virtual cross-sectoral conversation aimed at highlighting the need to support interventions that can enable a green recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic.

India has faced a combination of shocks over the past 18 months – a global pandemic, a labour migration crisis due to lost livelihoods, a disruption of major industries and small businesses due to prolonged lockdowns, and a series of extreme weather events such as super cyclones Amphan and Tauktae. Like COVID-19, climate change also presents a future of overlapping crises that disproportionately impact India's poorest and most vulnerable populations. Now more than ever, we need to traverse the path of an equitable and green recovery that prioritises co-benefits across jobs, growth, and sustainability.

The session will bring together donors, implementing agencies, and experts to illustrate practical philanthropic opportunities that promote people-centric growth, such as renewable energy-powered cold chains, a clean energy transition for India's SME sector, and agroforestry.

Date and time: 25th October 2021, 18:30 hrs. to 20:00 hrs. (IST)

PANELISTS:

- Opening address by Sangita Jindal (Chairperson, JSW Foundation)
- Anirban Ghosh (Chief Sustainability Officer, Mahindra Group)
- Ashish Chaturvedi (Director-Climate Change, GIZ India)
- Dhruba Purkayastha (India Director, Climate Policy Initiative)
- Huda Jaffer (Director, SELCO Foundation)
- Noah Horowitz (Program Director, Clean Cooling Collaborative)
- Ruchika Singh (Director, Sustainable Landscapes and Restoration, World Resources Institute India)
- Sushil Saigal (Director of Programs, The Nature Conservancy-India)
- Vivek Adhia (India Country Director, Institute for Sustainable Communities)

Investing in Green Recovery is a part of a 6-part series titled Beyond COP26: Investing in India, hosted in collaboration with EdelGive Foundation and Bloomberg Philanthropies. Through our series, we aim to coalesce the Indian climate ecosystem, bring forth diverse perspectives, and translate decisions made at Glasgow into fundable solutions on the ground.

We hope to see you on 25th October at 18:30 hrs.

Invitation for Beyond COP26: Investing in Nature: Financing nature-based solutions for India

Dear partner,

The India Climate Collaborative is pleased to invite you to Investing in Nature: Financing nature-based solutions for India, a virtual panel that will bring together experts, funders and practitioners to explore financing opportunities from the private and public sectors for mainstreaming nature-based solutions (NbS) in India.

NbS are practices and strategies that work with nature to address climate adaptation and mitigation challenges, while bringing long-term benefits for people and ecosystems. In the Decade on Ecosystem Restoration, deployment of NbS has received significant attention as a promising strategy to address societal and environmental challenges. The recently concluded CoP26 highlighted the co-benefits generated from NbS to address the global crisis of biodiversity loss and help achieve the Sustainable Development Goals. Yet, according to the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), globally, investments in NbS need to triple by 2030.

Agricultural land and forests comprise 70% of India's total land area and 15% of India's greenhouse gas emissions, which means they provide an immense opportunity for NbS. In addition, they support over 700 million Indians in the form of livelihoods or sustenance – especially those communities that are highly vulnerable to the impacts of land degradation, biodiversity loss, and climate change. NbS can also create significant job opportunities in India, with the World Economic Forum forecasting the potential of NbS to deliver $3,565 billion of annual business opportunities and 191 million jobs by 2030.

The ICC aims for NbS to be implemented at scale in India and become mainstream; however, there is a need to close the existing knowledge and financial gaps that may impede its uptake. This session will bring together land-use actors to discuss the opportunities and challenges to scaling up NbS in India; get insights and perspectives on how best unlock, mobilise, and catalyse finance for nature from the private and public sector in India; and inspire the funding community to support credible and ambitious scale-up of effective NbS as part of 1.5 degrees, climate-resilient pathways.

Date and time: 25th November 2021, 18:30 hrs. to 20:00 hrs. (IST)

Panelists:

- Carolin Leeshaa (Director, Head of Social & Sustainable Finance | Natural Capital & Biodiversity Lead, KPMG Australia)
- Nitin Pandit (CEO, Ashoka Trust for Research in Ecology and the Environment (ATREE))
- Sameer Shisodia (CEO, Rainmatter Foundation)
- Sandeep Roy Choudhury (Co-founder and Director, VNV Advisory Services)
- Seema Paul (Program Director, Sequoia Climate Fund)
- Tim Christophersen (Head, Nature for Climate Branch, United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP))

Session moderator:

- Rohini Chaturvedi (Senior Advisor - Land Use, India Climate Collaborative)

Investing in Nature: Financing nature-based solutions for India is the final event in our series, Beyond COP26: Investing in India, supported by EdelGive Foundation and Bloomberg Philanthropies. This session is hosted in collaboration with KPMG.

We hope to see you on 25th November at 18:30 hrs.

Charcha 2021 | August 13-15

Dear colleague,

We hope you and your loved ones are safe and well during these testing times. Our country has just begun to navigate its way out of a deadly second wave of COVID-19 and today, more than ever, we need every Indian to contribute to rebuilding the future of the country post-pandemic. And while this task might seem overwhelming, collaboration can serve as a strong bridge to success.

With our country's 75th Independence Day right around the corner, we want to spark conversations that provide opportunities for action. With that in mind, we are working with Rockefeller Foundation to co-host a session at Nudge Foundation's Charcha 2021. This year's Charcha focuses on the most pressing issues that India is facing, and provides a platform for honest and open discussion.

Events include: Disrupt Philanthropy | Resilient Societies | Equitable Cities | Gender | Energy | Health | Education | Rural Development | WASH | Skills Development | Collective Impact

Among those joining Charcha this year are Amitabh Kant, CEO of NITI Aayog; Dr. RS Sharma, CEO of the National Health Authority; Prof. K Vijay Raghavan, Principal Scientific Advisor to the Government of India; Rohini Nilekani, Co-founder and Director of EkStep Foundation; Sonam Wangchuk, Founder of SECMOL; and Renana Jhabvala, National Coordinator for SEWA.

Our panel on the role of philanthropy in re-energising rural livelihoods will be held on August 13th from 5-6PM IST.

Scaling up DRE-based agri-solutions is critical for both building rural resilience and promoting a green recovery from the pandemic. While solutions such as irrigation pumps, cold storages, and processing equipment aren't new, the market for such solutions is still nascent in terms of business models, financing and demand. An understanding of the approaches required to achieve scale in this sector can enable donors to play a catalytic role - rather than an incremental one - and leverage opportunities for impact both in terms of avoiding greenhouse gas emissions and enhancing rural livelihoods.

Through this panel, we intend to facilitate a conversation between funders and solutions providers that can inform the donor community of the different levers to be considered for scaling the DRE-based agri-solutions sector.

We invite you to sign up and attend our event, as well as others in your area of interest. Welcome to Charcha 2021, let's talk.

Warmly,

The India Climate Collaborative Team

Good afternoon,

Dear Bharti ma'am,

We have conducted a meeting today with the PIs who were present in the webinar on 19th march 2021 and few of them have shown interest towards taking the technology. They have selected technologies based on the requirements of the adopted villages.

We want clarification on few topics:

- (1) As PIs are interested in taking technologies, what will be the next step (from PI's and RCI's end) to opt for the technology ?
- (2) From where PIs will get the fund ?
- (3) How will the technology get transferred?
- (4) How will training be given ?

Plan of execution will be shared soon.

Find the attached file which includes the name of the PIs and selected technologies respectively.

Thanking you,
Isha Bhakat
